Responsibility for the training of the troops committed to their charge rests on nil commanders. Subject to the principles laid down in the various training manuals, regulations, and this general program, commanders are at liberty to employ such methods as appear best calculated to attain the desired end. Superior commanders, while holding their subordinates responsible for the training of their units, will never forego their function of guidance and control and will exercise a general and continuous supervision over their work. In carrying out this duty they should not curb the initiative of their subordinates nor interfere unnecessarily so long as the training is conducted on sound lines. Without trained cadres of officers and men to carry on the instruction, the presence of all battery officers with their batteries is essential for the proper instruction of their men, especially during the period of preliminary instruction, and officers should not be taken from the batteries to perform staff or other duties for which staff officers are provided....
